SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

Goffstown, N. H., February 8, 1921.

To the School Board and Citizens of Bedford.

I take pleasure in presenting my fourth annual report as superintendent of schools, it being the seventh in such a series of reports.

Probably at no time, even during the war, have schools been more in the thoughts of the people than at present. The motto of the State Board of Education is: "Good Schools Are Everybody's Business," and only as enlightened public opinion constructively criticises our schools do we make progress. We can have only as good schools as the community will support, morally and financially.

Comparative figures for the last four completed years are appended to this report. The average salary of teachers is given for five years and it will be noted that a material advance has been made, especially the present year. This advance is due in part to justice to the teachers, partly to the scarcity of teachers all over the country and in part to the increased cost of board. This latter fact necessitates a higher salary at Bedford Center than elsewhere in the district for the same quality of teaching.

In January 1921, United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. P. P. Claxton, called a Citizens Conference for the New England States at Boston. The report of the Committee on Resolutions appointed at that time reads in part as follows: "Salaries shall everywhere be sufficiently generous to attract and hold the highest type of teachers. In isolated rural communities and in places of peculiar hardships or difficulties where educational opportunities and social betterment are most needed, relatively larger salaries should be paid. Rural communities should provide comfortable, congenial, home-like living conditions by opening the best homes, establishing teacherages, providing transportation or by other effective methods. Social recognition should be granted these teachers, and they on their parts should participate freely and helpfully in the life of the community." Your school committee has tried to secure the best possible teachers at reasonable salaries and to expect the patrons of the schools to welcome and support them.

It may be recalled that the winter of 1920 was unusually severe, but our per cent of attendance exceeded that of any year in the past five. The attendance and general morale of the schools this year is good. The school board has appointed Mr. Thomas Fellows, Manchester truant officer, as a special truant officer for Bedford, and he will see that pupils attending school in either the parochial or public schools in Manchester are in regular attendance, and also act in special cases where he can do so more easily than the regular truant officer, Mr. Samuel Ray.

Nine pupils graduated last June and one of these entered high school at Milford. Three others attended the Varney school the first semester of this year and are now in high school in Manchester.

If it is impossible to have good schools without good teachers it is next to impossible to expect good schools without reasonably suitable buildings. The State recognizes this and has set a minimum standard for school buildings. This standard was explained in my last report and your attention called to the fact that Bedford's buildings were for the most part old and in need of continued patching to bring them up to the minimum standard. From Number Six school this year have been transferred all pupils above the first five grades.

They are sent to the Varney school at the expense of the Bedford School District. The section of the town served by the No. 6 school is growing, and will grow more rapidly when building conditions become normal. The school building is inadequate and cannot be made suitable for the large number of pupils to be accommodated. If there was a suitable building at No. 1 probably some of the pupils could be transferred and transported there and thus temporarily relieve the situation. The relocation and building of a school house in this district must receive serious consideration.

At No. 5 school twenty-nine different pupils have been enrolled this year in a school room of 378 square feet. Some of the best seats and desks in town are installed in this room but they have to be so closely placed together that their full benefit is not realized.

No. 4 school must receive some attention if it is to be kept respectable. This is one of the buildings that have received frequent patching. No. 11 school must be renovated in the interior, as it is badly smoke begrimed. The toilets at this building need attention, but for the most part the toilet conditions are good, owing to the progressive policy of your School Board.

The increased cost of schools must receive serious attention. Your School Board has carefully prepared a budget of proposed expenditures for next year, and would be glad to answer in detail regarding the items therein. It is impossible at this time to forecast the action of the general court and for this reason the school meeting will not be held as early as usual. There are several items in the budget that may be materially changed by legislative action. The amount of High school tuition, for which a district is now liable, is fifty-five dollars a pupil. This is far below the average cost, and is likely to be increased.

This year, owing to the increased demands of the state-aided districts, the State finds a deficiency of $246,000, and the State Board of Education has been obliged to prorate the amounts to be paid. On this basis Bedford will receive $2,147.60. If the legislature makes a deficiency appropriation $1,879.17 more should be expected. If the legislature fails to make such an appropriation the district will be obliged to raise the amount to meet expenses, as the school board must leave intact the amount of money raised for the support of schools for the year until the year begins in September.

Comparative figures might be of interest here. In 1919, the last year under the old school law Bedford spent a total of $7,768.26 in support of its schools, and of this amount there was received from sources other than direct taxes the following amounts:

From the State	$913.50
From dog licenses	249.00
From other sources40
	<hr/>	$1,162.90
Or the amount paid by taxes was		$6,659.76

In 1920, the first year under the new law and a year of increasing prices Bedford spent a total of $9,103.21 in support of schools, and of this amount there was received from sources other than taxes the following amounts:

From the State	$2,205.95
From dog licenses	230.00
From other sources	7.50
	<hr/>	$2,443.45
Or the amount paid by taxes was.....		$6,659.76

The difference amounts to $54.40 increase. If it had not been for State aid the increase would have been somewhere between 30 and 40%. Bedford cannot afford to lose State aid.

We have labored to maintain good schools and it is the mutual ambition of the School Board and superintendent, who are jointly charged with maintaining "standard schools" to exceed the minimum requirements."

Respectfully submitted,

HOWARD L. WINSLOW.

Superintendent.
